A Day In The Life . . .

Sometimes, when you're walking in the doors on your way to your locker there's this sneaky feeling that kind of makes you feel like you're glad to be there. Even though you're always thinking about how school is so awful, if you really think about it, you'd probably rather be there than sitting at home.

My friend and I are riding on the bus. As she looks out the window, she talks about what happened over the weekend. She goes on and on. I sit there reading my novel, listening to her with one ear.

You always have to do your locker combination three times in the morning because you're so tired you can't remember it.

While the rest of the class was saluting the flag, I stood crouched at my desk trying to finish last night's homework.

I walk into homeroom every morning and see students with coffee, doughnuts, juice, and milk. And teachers are passing out forms that are promptly thrown on the floor.

Did you ever notice: No one in the class is saluting the flag except the teacher.

Homeroom on Mondays is always fun. Everyone is always tired. They talk about what they did over the weekend and how they are psyched for the next weekend.

I've got a test in Biology today. There goes my B average.

Before second period I always meet a few friends in front of 246. We always talk about music. It is usually about the Rolling Stones or what concerts are coming or were on the radio.

The most memorable time at North was my first day. It was a day that I would like to forget. It began with first period. It took me over five minutes to find the room. Second period I ended up in the VOC. Third period I found without too much of a hassle. Fourth period presented more problems, I ended up at the other side of the school. During all this time the books kept on piling up. Next, I had lunch. That was easy, I just followed all the runners. Fifth was easy. Then came sixth, I could not find the gym. Seventh period I was late again. To end the day I could not find the sheet with my combination number on it. What a day.

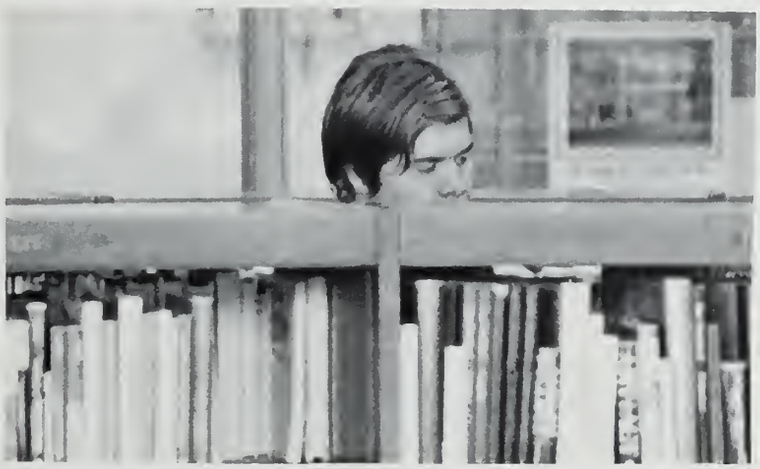
The bell rings beginning third period. You're late. You just remembered that you have to walk into sex class. You have never been so embarrassed.



And let's not forget those second period gym classes on Monday morning because when you open your basket you realize that you forgot your gym suit. So you run to the gym teacher and explain your predicament, but all she has for gym suits are those hideous one-piece green things. They are so ugly they make you want to crawl into a hole and hide until the end of the period.

You've been in school for quite a while now and you think you know your way around. You turn to take a corner and you walk into a wall. You have no idea where you are. Panic sets in because you think the bell will ring any second. There is no way to get to your class without asking. You ask someone and he tells you. As he turns around, you hear him laugh, what do you do?

You run down the hall, knowing you're going to be late for class because you've been following someone to his class.

Why a study is called what it is is beyond me. If it should be called anything, it should be a talk period.

The sound of a bell rings, doors fly open and a stampede of people race down the never ending corridors. Few drag behind, stopping at their lockers. Endless lines are formed behind the four long counters.

I'm in third lunch. Eight kids cut in line. Then there are no more lunches. I have to wait ten minutes and have five minutes to eat.

Once, one of my friends crept up behind me and yelled. I stepped backwards and a door opened and hit me in the back of the head. Everybody was laughing and my face turned different shades of red.

You never worry about smoking in the boy's room until you look in the mirror and Mr. Knight is standing behind you. All he says is, "Have any questions?"

Although we say we don't like school, it is a place to be with friends and have a good time (sometimes).

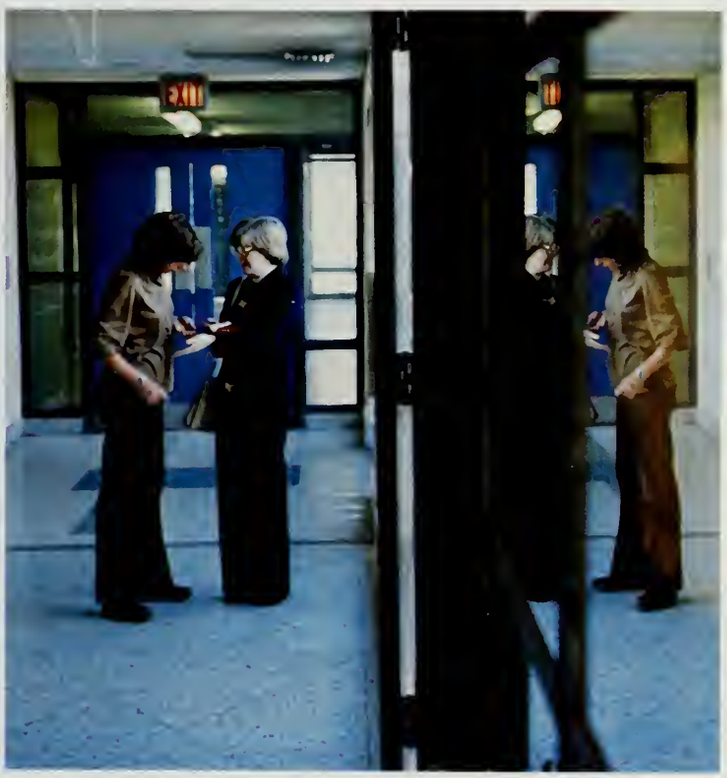
Going to lunch is like driving home on the expressway during rush hour.



You walk down the hallway peering into all of the classrooms, looking for someone you know or would like to know. You stop along the way if some nice looking girl catches your eye and walk around to avoid going back to your class as long as possible. When you finally go back to your room, you stand there gawking into the room trying to find a reason for going in. It seems so quiet. All of the students are trying to look studious, but only half of them are capable of doing their work. You stand there, think for a few minutes trying to find a way to avoid it. There are only two fair looking girls and only a few friends; the rest do not matter. But finally you find yourself reaching for the doorknob and stepping in. Everyone turns and takes a quick glance and you go to your seat to become one of them again.

The girl you are trying to impress is picked to go on an errand with you. You are wearing your worst shirt and it keeps coming undone. And if that isn't bad enough, you realize that your shoe is untied and your fly is down.

You're at your locker and your best friend pushes you into it and you wreck your head. You do it to him but you can't yell at him. You just laugh and it kills you.

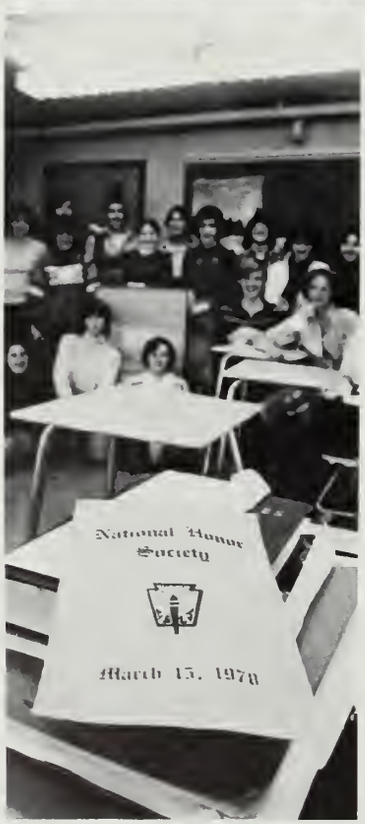
It always seems that everyone in the building is going down the stairway the same time that I am going up.



It happened when I was in gym class. I liked this boy and we were playing basketball and I was watching him and running along with him at the same time. I tripped over somebody's foot. I was so embarassed because he was watching me.

Once I was talking to one of my friends and I knew I was going to be late. I was talking about a boy that I thought was cute and when I turned around to walk to my class, I walked right into the kid I was talking about. My face turned red and I ran to class.

If you're sitting in class and there is a kid you like and he looks at you you turn away first.

Remember walking down the hall saying hi to everyone and then not remembering whom you said hi to.

Confusing: When you have Monday off, but Tuesday is going by Monday's schedule and you go to the wrong classes and make a fool of yourself.

Fragments
— Being pushed around in the halls.
— Having to go to detention.
— Looking forward to the weekend.
— Some good, some bad.
— Unless some teacher gives us homework.
— The best part is coming and going on the bus: a real experience.
— Substitute teachers.

The best part has to be dressing in shorts and t-shirts to play tennis in the freezing temperatures.

Walking down the stairs in this school is very dangerous. You never know who is going to walk up behind you, or if someone is going to be chasing somebody else while you are in the way; and when somebody yells, all you hear for the next five minutes is what was yelled because of the echo bouncing off the walls.

I have to watch myself because my study teachers are getting suspicious.

Jokes are cracked, notes are taken, and Mr. Martin puts everyone in a good mood. I think again about the classes ahead — Algebra II and Typing. That's great. Two more periods and then swim practice. Mr. Martin brings out his banjo and begins to play. The class listens intently as this "wild and crazy guy" begins to play. The bell rings and it's time for math.

Putting on your band uniform gives you the feeling of being an usher, especially the black velvet bow tie. You go to the concert, play your best, despite the butterflies in your stomach, and wave to you friends in the audience. At the end, while the audience is clapping, you're excited and extremely proud to be part of the Weymouth North Band.

While the teacher is talking your mind slowly wanders off to plan for the weekend.

I walk into the locker room and it is freezing. I have no ambition to get changed to go outside where it is even colder. Everyone in the locker room is yelling, "Do we have to go out? It's freezing!"

Miss Arnold says, "Yes, you do and it's going to get colder."

So everyone starts bringing out sweatshirts. As I pull on my gym suit, my legs are covered with goosebumps. I pull on my sweatshirt and run outside, hugging myself to keep warm. Mr. Hayes says that if we're cold we can run a few laps to warm up. I tell him that I'd rather be cold than sweaty.

You hit the break key in Computer theory and it takes the teacher two periods to reprogram the computer.

I go to English, knowing that I didn't finish my homework, thinking of a story to get out of trouble so I don't get a check.

My lab partner in Biology refused to touch the specimen so some of us kids got together and put a dissected frog down his shirt.

First Prize: taking badmitton in gym and setting an all time record for losing birdies in the rafters.

You have no spunk at all on that day you have a swim meet. At 2:00 you look at the clock and tell yourself that you can't make it. You drag your tired body on the bus and when you arrive at the pool, you still can't get yourself up for swimming.

The last class of the day s the hardest. Teachers are tired of being annoyed so hey give you plenty of work to keep you quiet.

Then, of course, there are those times when you wake up at midnight in a cold sweat because you had a nightmare about that history paper you forgot to write. But then doesn't everyone love sitting up until four in the morning writing history papers?

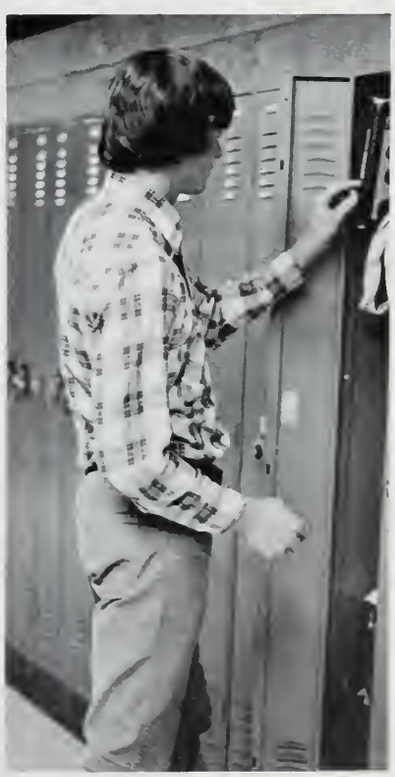
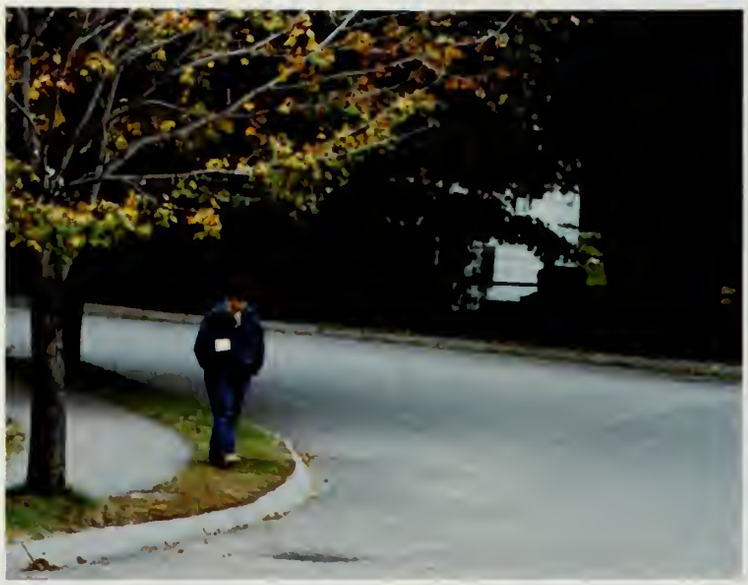
I'll always remember the friends and the friendly people I knew in school. It makes school exciting when you have teachers who are cheerful while they are teaching and friends to joke around with.





People seem to change in a cycle every day. They come to school tired, hardly talking. Towards the middle of the day they are mostly awake. But when it comes to seventh period they are ready for just about anything.

Why should we be in such desperate haste to succeed, and in such
desperate enterprises?
If a man does not keep pace
with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears
a different drummer.

Let him step to the music which he hears,
however measured
or far away.

Sports

Boy's Soccer

The Boy's Varsity Soccer Team finished the season with a 4-11-1. Injuries and bad luck plagued the team all year. With only three returning varsity players, the team appeared weak. Hard work and hustle made up for the teams lack of individual skills. Although the team suffered 11 loses, 8 of those games were decided by one goal. The high point of the season was a tie with the defending Suburban League champs, Newton North. Coach Shoff looks forward to a successful season next year with a large crop of varsity players remaining, and a few hopefuls from the J.V. squad.

Girls' Soccer

This year's Soccer Team, with experienced players from last year, had an exceptionally good season. The girls were coached by Mr. Hayes. Captains Pam Given, Paula Given, and Trish Duffy led the varsity team through a successful year. The Junior Varsity Team fielded its best soccer team ever. Next year's varsity team is most promising.

Football

This years football squad was one of the more talented teams in the last few years. The team's 4-6 record was achieved by a strong offensive team led by a powerful offensive line. Wide receiver Ed Murray and kicker Don Whittle also contributed greatly to North's success.

An awesome defense, combining the strength of Scott Harrington, David Bouley, David Bell, Joe Boudrault and David Hogan held off many teams throughout the season.

Other fine performances were put in by Ed Garner, Dana Oliver, Ed Zeigler, Paul Gosslin, Bob Cullivan, Jerry Garner, Don Whittle, Mike Donaher, and John Gaynor.

This year's golf team was possibly the best Weymouth North has ever had. They ended their season with a 5-2-1 record which was good enough to place them in the Suburban League Playoffs.

Competing for Weymouth North in the Suburban League Playoffs were Bob O'Brien, Steve O'Shea, Steve Ganley, and Brian McGrory. Representing Weymouth North at the Boy's State Individual Tournment were: Bob O'Brien, Steve O'Shea, Steve Ganley, and for the girls, Ann-Marie Linehan.

Swim Team

The girls' swim team pulled through with a record of 3 wins and 5 losses. Captain's Carolyn Cunniff and Barbara Evans were nominated for the Eastern All-Star team. Patricia Keaney and Carolyn Cunniff also competed in the Southeastern sectional championship.

First Row: Johanna McCafferty, Sheila McBarron, Paula Jennings, Janet Hagelstein, Carolyn Fox.
Second Row: Co-Capt. Carolyn Cunniff, Betsy Bouchard, Donna Dempsey, Eileen Daly, Elaine Santry, Gail Hall, Susan Coyle, Mary McSherry.
Third Row: Jeanne Melville, Kathy Boben, Patty Keany, Co-Capt. Barbara Evans, Sara Lambe, Katy Sullivan.

Hockey

Once again, North's Hockey Team, under supervision of second year coach, Bob Donovan, dominated the Suburban League. Co-captains Paul Hurley and John Russo came through in the clutch for North. We will never forget the two victories, (6-2, 7-3), against our arch rival Weymouth South.

1st Row — Gary Gervasi, Mark Kundicz, Rich Comeau, Dave Cohoon, John Russo, Paul Hurley, Bob O'Brian, Dave Bell, Steve O'Shea, Jerry Garner.

Basketball

The Boy's Varsity Basketball Team continued North's tradition of strong teams. Team leadership and offensive punch were both supplied by captain Nipper McCleod. Skeptics who questioned North's height were soon quieted by the strong rebounding power of center Brian Hickey. Fred Brennan gave the team a needed spark with his remarkable work on defense and all around hustle. The team's point guard, Scott Fedor, put in many outstanding performances. Although hurt for most of the season, Tom Bettle still managed to play in every game, and when he could not, Scott McQueen and Brian McGrory proved to be more than adequate replacements. David Papile at guard and Al Claflin at center were always ready to contribute when asked. Coach Steve Shoff was elated over the performance of his players, because his team is in the competitive Suburban League.

Girl's Basketball

After losing the first two games of the season, the team came on strong to defeat North Quincy, Brookline, and Brockton. The girls also came in first place in the Hingham Christmas Tournament. This years' captains are Trish Duffy and Michelle Rober, the team's rebounding leader and defensive mainstay. Coach Carol Arnold expects a great turnout for next year's team. With returning enthusiastic underclassmen, we will have a fine, spirited team.

Indoor Track

This proved to be a record breaking season for the members of this year's indoor track team. Don Whittle broke the school record in the 50 yd. hurdles. Carolyn Cuniff and Deidre Hayes, set new school records in the mile and two mile races. Sue and Joyce Roussell set records in the high jump. John Keelan emerged as the Suburban League two mile champ, while David Hogan led the league in the shot put for most of the season.

Gymnastics

The Gymnastics teams at Weymouth North were quite successful this year. Senior standouts included Paul Bagley, Frank Palmer, Micheal Sheehan and Chris O'Neil. Coaches Dick Hayes and Sharon Jeffe were quite pleased with the team's performance this year and have high hopes for next year's team.

Lacrosse

This is the ninth season for Lacrosse at North. Under the coaching of Tony Manzelli, the team manifested a successful season. Seven of nine mid-fielders graduated last year, leaving Steve Conway and John Gabriel to carry on North's winning ways. At attack, two of three starters graduated, but Brian Curran, Scott Lovewell, and Eddy Murphy were all experienced in varsity action. Starting defensemen graduated leaving 3 openings in the line up. Veteran goalie Kevin Sharland had an excellent season in the nets.

Front: Brian Curran, Ed Murphy, John Gaynor.
Back: Kevin Sharland, Brian Green, Steve Conway, Scott Lovewell.

Baseball

North has had a long tradition of fine baseball teams and this year is no exception. Coach George Player was very pleased with his team's showing, even though the team was very inexperienced. Seniors who returned to North's Varsity Team were: Dave Bell, Fred Brennan, Nipper McCleod, Scott Harrington, and Ed Garner.

Softball

Although the girls' softball team has not had much success in the past, Coach Carol Arnold feels that their problems are over. This season, returning players such as June Foley, Jackie Jamison, and Carole Molingnano have brought the team together. If the team improves with consistent pitching, the outlook can be brighter for next year's season.

The Sheaves

Where long the shadows of the wind had rolled,
Green wheat was yielding to the change
assigned;
And as by some vast magic undivined
The world was turning slowly into gold.
Like nothing that was ever bought or sold
It waited there, the body and the mind;
And with a mighty meaning of a kind
That tells the more the more is not told.

So in a land where all days are not fair,
Fair days went on till on another day
A thousand golden sheaves were lying there,
Shining and still, but not for long to stay-
As if a thousand girls with golden hair
Might rise from where they slept and go away

Yearbook

The formula for a successful yearbook is very flexible. However, there is one component that has to remain constant. In order for a yearbook staff to typify the character of the school and students who produce it, there has to be a high level of concern for the product present within the workers. I think that exists on the North Star Staff. Many may not realize it, but in the past few years the yearbooks of North High School have gone far beyond the simple recording of names and faces. They have captured the spirit that turns those individuals into that particular anomaly we call Weymouth North High School. Made with such high standards in mind, our yearbook is one of the more pleasant tangible vestiges we retain when we leave high school. These pages stand as graphic and literary testimony to the concern with which they were sent off to be published. As editor of the yearbook staff, I hope that your enjoyment of this book will be proportional to the feeling of triumph with which we completed it.

Senior Essay

Throughout our high school years, we have been given many definitions of successful and happy lives. The variety of explanations demonstrates the fact that the words success and happiness are subject to many meanings and interpretations. Although each of us has our own ideas as to how we will lead the life which will please us, we all share a similar concept of the necessity of fulfillment during our lifetime. We each have our own career, social and personal objectives which we will pursue after graduation. If believed in strongly enough, our goals will be achieved. In attaining these goals, we will experience a feeling of success, the knowledge that we have accomplished a difficult objective.

Deciding on a career is one of the most difficult decisions in one's life. Much time and consideration are involved in making such a commitment. Only after realizing one's capabilities, interests, and aspirations is one able to combine these qualities into a profession which will be one's own. Understanding these personal qualities is a difficult process. However, by analyzing his activities, one often finds that a personal interest or motovation lies behind his actions. A slightly different procedure involves spending much time researching a subject which may be of only slight interest to the individual. Various techniques aid each person in learning about his unique qualities, but these two techniques tend to help the majority.

Social goals are basically those desires of an individual to become involved in a community. This includes being able to deal with other people. Throughout our lives we will be faced with many situations in which we will have to deal with a variety of personalities expressing a variety of viewpoints, beliefs, and objectives. Today we have become aware of the vast differences in characters through our contact with friends, aquaintances, and classmates. Realizing that these variations occur within the small town of Weymouth, we can only imagine how our attitudes and ideas differ from those of the people with whom we will come in contact in later years. While pursuing these social objectives, it is often necessary to compromise and to be able to reason. By dealing with people in this manner, one will find that one's goals will be more easily achieved.

Personal goals are usually guided and shaped by individual experiences. The realization of how one wants to live his life is not found quickly. It takes a relatively long time for an individual to understand his beliefs, needs and hopes, and how to apply them to his life. Opinions and ideas may change as he grows, and because the person has considered the consequences carefully, changes are often beneficial in achieving his career, social and personal goals. These changes can bring about new interests, improvement in society, and more defined personal goals.

Personal goals are unique and thus, must be formed by the individual alone, although advice may come from others. It is important to take this advice and consider its affect on one's unique situation. However, it is also important to remember that it is our lives that will be changed by the decision and thus our responsibility to choose the path most beneficial to us.

Throughout the process of achieving our career, social, and personal goals, many difficulties are encountered. By exploring individual situations thoroughly, one finds a way to handle the difficulties. Finally realizing his goal, one feels happy and successful knowing he has been able to overcome many hardships and has reached his objective.

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler — long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth.

Then took the other as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same.

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
  Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
  I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh,
Somewhere ages and ages hence;
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Escape

Sometimes, I wish I could fly and drift into the darkness and silence
And forget about the confusion that once surrounded me.
I would float into the heavens
and visit every celestial star with my eyes closed
I could dream, and escape
I would just drift . . . and dream down the waters of space
Gliding aimlessly
alone, with my thoughts
I would allow the peace to overcome me, and wrap myself in the warmth of the darkness
And into the drowsy blackness, I would float like a graceful butterfly, with satin wings
I would glide to paradise
in an endless flight . . .

Friendship

True friendship
A friend is a special someone who is always at your side.
A friend cares about you and always finds time to listen.
A friend can be trusted, especially with your inner most thoughts.
A friend worries when you're sick and cheers you up when you're depressed.
A friend is a person who you like to be with.
It doesn't matter where you go, as long as you're together.
A friend wishes you were there to share a happy moment.
Tears and laughter are shared by two very special people.
Friends will say they are "sorry" because their friendship is special.
A friend is a reflection of yourself.
When friendship is treasured, jealousy doesn't exist.

A Wise Man's Cry for Hope

Son, do not stand at my grave and weep for I did not die, I only sleep. If you could only hear me I would tell you about the new life I am going to join. It is a life of peace and happiness where all men are equal. I shall tell you about the life you are living now. Life has so many things to offer, son. Take all you can and enjoy what you have done. Don't regret what you did, but what you didn't do. Loved ones are so important to a fulfilled life, so have many and forgive their faults for they are only human. Learn as much as you can and be aware of the ever changing world around you. Can't you hear what I am saying son? Don't stand at my grave with sorrow for I will be happy. There are so many things you have yet to find. Explore the many lands and different peoples. Accept them as individuals; do not shun them or heckle them like many of us do. You can learn and enjoy everything life has to offer if you are open and loving. Son, there is one very important part of life I hope you find which I never discovered. Enjoy life's better blessing; such as peace, happiness and love. Too many of us put money and materialistic possessions on a throne. Don't you!

Step out as an individual and you will be more at peace with yourself. Look at me! I know you think I have died, but my soul shall live on forever. God is calling for me now. I must leave you, but remember these two simple words, "Live free."

The son gazed down at his father's grave. He had a weird feeling in the pit of his stomach. His father would not want him to be standing around grieving for him. He understood and walked slowly away from the empty grave. Yes! the grave was empty, for it had no soul. The cry for hope had been heard!

— Patsie Quinn

Graduation

Graduation is the lump in a throat while trying to laugh.
Graduation is the key to many locked doors in the future.
Graduation is the bud of adulthood.
Graduation is getting out of prison after a 12-year term.
Graduation is opening a door thought forever closed.
Graduation is the bottom step of a long stairway.
Graduation is the flood gate of responsibility.
Graduation is the turning of a fall leaf.
Graduation is a flower blooming in the spring once again.
Graduation is the sunrise — shedding light on a new beginning.
Graduation is a door, being opened for the first time.
Graduation is opening a book that hasn't been read before.
Graduation is the middle rung on the ladder of life.
Graduation is the summit of a long, hard, climb, yet soon one finds that innumerable mountains still lie ahead.
Graduation is popcorn; everyone goes in different directions.
Graduation is the beginning of reminising, and the end of the same routine.
Graduation is the threshold to the doorway of the rest of our lives.

A TIME AND LAND FORGOTTEN
I OPEN THE BOOK AND SEE
PICTURES OF OLD FRIENDS
AND THERE IS ONE OF ME

SOME I TRY TO REMEMBER
AND SOME I JUST DON'T
SOME I TRY TO FORGET
AND SOME I JUST WON'T

GOOD TIMES COME BACK TO ME
FUNNY, BUT NONE OF THE BAD
HAPPY TIMES I REMEMBER
BUT NEVER ANY SAD

I CLOSE THE PAGES NOW
FOR ANOTHER TIME TO LOOK
MEMORIES HELD FOREVER
INSIDE MY YEARBOOK
